

We need to be conscious of the message we are sending our children. It is not enough to say that young people who drink alcohol regularly can then experiment with drugs — and then keep bottles of wine or spirits or beer in the house for teenagers to lay their hands on.

Declan Jones of the Aislinn addiction centre.